Hello, my name's David and I'm 22. I'm from Boston, in the USA. It's a very lively (vivace) city with one of the most important universities in the world, so there are a lot of young people from Europe, Africa and Asia here. In the city centre there are pubs, cinemas and discos, especially in the area near the university. My house it's not far from the centre: it's in a quiet area, opposite a nice public park. There isn't much traffic, but there are only a few shops. There isn't much for young people in this area, so I meet(incontro) my friends in a disco pub in the centre. My favourite place is Rocky's: from the underground station,take the second on the right: that's Jackson Road. Go straight on and take the first on the left, there's a chemist's on the corner: the pub is just opposite. It's not difficult: come and see me!

Yours, David

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF A RURAL POSTMAN

Hello, my name's Ian McNally and I'm a postman. I don't work in a big city, I work in the country (campagna), in a nice area in the north of Scotland with a few cottages and some farms (fattorie). I live there with my wife Jennifer and my son Chris, and I really like the slower pace (ritmo) of life in the country. I get up at 4.15: I wash, put on my uniform and have breakfast. My wife and my son don't get up with me, it's too early for them. I usually have some cornflakes and a big cup of coffee.

I leave home and I cycle to work. My working day starts at 5.15: I sort (divido) the post: there are usually a lot of gas bills. It takes about one hour. After that I load (carico) the post on my lorry and leave the post office to start my round (giro). I deliver the post, talk to people, comment about the weather. I usually have a coffee stop at 10: just a few minutes at the local pub. I usually finish at 1.15 if the weather is ok. If it rains a lot or if it snows my day is longer and I sometimes unload the lorry at 2 or 2.30. When I get home my family is out: my son comes back from school at 4.30 and my wife at 6.00, so dinner is the only moment I can see my family. I cook dinner of course and do the dishes.

After dinner Jennifer and I have a cup of tea and discuss the day: that's the most pleasant (piacevole) part of my day, I think. What time do I go to sleep? Early: at 9.30.
